

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An engine component is composed of an aluminum alloy containing silicon, and includes a plurality of primary-crystal silicon grains located on a slide surface. The plurality of primary-crystal silicon grains have an average crystal grain size of no less than about 12 μ m and no more than about 50 μ m.